

About CCAPP

CCAPP is the largest statewide consortium of community-based for profit and nonprofit substance use disorder treatment agencies, and addiction focused professionals, providing services to over a 100,000 California residents annually in residential, outpatient, and private practice settings. Its 12,000 individual Counselors and 500 programs provide substance use disorder treatment services in the majority of DHCS licensed and/or certified sites throughout the state and constitute the largest infrastructure of the state's publicly funded substance use disorder treatment network. CCAPP is the only statewide consortium representing all modalities of substance use disorder treatment programs.

The eight major goals of the certification system formulated by the Certification Board are as follows:

1. Establish credibility, confidence and trust
2. Clarify and define counselor duties and responsibilities
3. Develop professional identity
4. Enhance incentive for counselor professional growth
5. Reduce alcohol/drug stigma
6. Provide professional assistance to clients
7. Increase potential of certification reciprocity
8. Increase reimbursement potential

Principles of Certification:

1. Certification is based on competence and knowledge about alcohol and drug problems rather than on academic achievement alone.
2. Authority for this certification comes from IC&RC/AODA, a consortium of 60 member boards internationally representing professionals working in chemical dependency who share a common concern for standards of competence.
3. The basic requirement for certification is the demonstration of competence in alcohol and drug counseling skills.
4. Application for certification is entirely voluntary.
5. Certification is offered to both members and non-members of the California Consortium of Addiction Programs and Professionals
